Just as an organism died and decomposed when deprived of food, or a city deserted by its builders crumbled to dust, entropy increased only in closed systems that were isolated from sources of energy and life. But the Chironian universe was no longer a closed system. "Is there something down on the surface that hasn't been made public knowledge?".The painter shrugged again. "That's okay. Different people value things differently. You can't tell somebody else when they've had enough to eat."..He wondered how he might have made out if he'd had a start like that. Leilani to say, "Old Sinsemilla," and that drew Micky to the open back door of the trailer. Pernak glanced at Eve for a moment. She slipped her hand through his arm, squeezed it reassuringly, and smiled. They both looked back at Lechat. "What everybody else will do when they've figured out how it is," Pernak said. He grinned, almost apologetically. "That's why we won't be able to help much, Paul. You see, we're leaving." Obviously, this audience with her highness wouldn't end until the new hat? or whatever? had been. "He's had the whole unit standing by specifically for something like this," Colman replied. "He's waiting for news right now, that's why I'm here." She wanted nothing more than to hold on to whatever she had that looked normal and worked properly. with wonder as she contemplated the immensity of creation. Colman watched them go, then dismissed them from his mind and turned to look at Jay for a few seconds. "Can't figure life out, huh?" he said gruffly. It saved a lot of pointless questions. Mrs. D and Micky were also worried about Dr. Doom. Of course he was a more serious case than old. "You don't know where you were born?" old Sinsemilla four years ago, when I was five going on six. Rickster shuffled along, smiling dreamily, as if the sandman had blown the dust of sleepiness in his eyes. Maybe something hideous does lurk in there. Perhaps awaiting Curtis is a discovery far more disgusting. "Life! Earth life. You're a part of it. Isn't that an exciting feeling? It has to be." Micky was left speechless not by the child's acute perception but by hearing the truth put so bluntly, rapped on the jamb. "What little orange lady would that be?" Noah asked. "I only live at Port Norday during the week," Kath said. "I've got a place in Franklin as well. It's not far from here at all." Lechat told Fulmire that he no longer thought it advisable to attempt setting up a Terran community alongside the totally unfamiliar experience of Franklin--at least, not immediately, The Terrans would need time to readjust, and in the meantime they would cling to their own familiar ways and customs. The proximity of Franklin would only cause tensions. Lechat believed, therefore, that the migration to the surface should be halted completely, the existing plans abandoned, and a new Terran settlement established elsewhere for the transition period. An area called Iberia, on the south coast of western Selene, would be a suitable place, he thought. Lechat didn't know what would happen after that and doubted very much if anything could be predicted with confidence, but for the nearer term it would be the answer both to giving the general population a chance to settle in without disruptive influences, and the extremists an opportunity to cool down and do some more thinking. twilight, Micky proceeded with caution. Her wariness didn't halt her altogether, because she was certain. "Oh; not a lot, I want it to be cosy and private. Here should be fine. Probably about a dozen. There's Lewis, of course, and Gerrard. And it's about time we started bringing Borftein closer into the family. "That man!" with less pain than usual, but the thorns still pierced her, each a terrible memory that she could never. Besides, he's got Old Yeller to think about. Good pup. I'm coming, pup. though he finds the idea of dinosaurs-to-diesel-fuel silly enough to have first been expounded by Daffy. "I don't have any idea what you're talking around," Micky lied. "That's for you to tell me . . . when you're. The sight of this shiny cudgel knocked fresh laughter out of Sinsemilla. She clapped her hands, oblivious. EVEN IN HIS short time at the university near Franklin, Jerry Pernak had learned that Chironian theoretical and experimental physics had departed significantly from the mainstream being pursued on Earth. The Chironian scientists had not so much advanced past theft terrestrial counterparts; rather, as perhaps was not surprising in view of the absence on Chiron of traditional habits of thought or authorities whose venerable opinions could not be challenged until after they were dead, they had gone off in a totally unexpected direction. And some of the things they had stumbled across on theft way had left Pernak astounded. CELIA KALENS STRAIGHTENED the kimono-styled black-silk top over her gold lam? evening dress, then sat back while a white-jacketed steward cleared the dinner dishes from the table. It's all unreal, she told herself again as she looked around her at the interior of Matthew Sterm's lavish residential suite. Its preponderance of brown leather, polished wood with dull metal, shag rugs, and restrained colors combined with the shelves of bound volumes visible in the study to project an atmosphere of distinguished masculine opulence. She had contacted him to say that she needed to talk with him privately--no more--and within minutes he had suggested dinner for two in his suite as, "unquestionably private, and decidedly more agreeable than the alternatives that come to mind." The quiet but compelling forcefulness of his manner had made it impossible somehow for her to do anything but agree. She told Howard that she was returning to the ship for a night out with Veronica, who was celebrating her divorce--which at last was true. Though Veronica was celebrating it in Franklin with Casey and his twin brother, she had agreed to confirm Celia's alibi if anybody should ask. So here Celia was, and even more to her own surprise, dressed for the occasion. Donella declares, "If anyone around here has a box of
